

I joined FAO in January 2018, and previously I worked at UNDP and AusAID in the Philippines. When I am not trying to be a doting mom to my five-year old daughter, I like going out with friends to catch up over movies or food/drinks, or go on road trips. I love to read, and I've got a lot of [unread] books that are begging for my time. I like travelling and anything that speaks of or tells the history of a place (like museums) is usually my first draw.
