> Plant materials in the various production systems, in the experimental fields of agricultural research and development institutes as well as genebanks constitutes the bulk of the material preserved ex situ. Before the economic crisis of 1990 that had hit Cameroon hard, agricultural research had large collections and genebanks in its operational structures in all the agro-ecological zones of the country. The 20-year-old inventory of collections is an eloquent testimony.

In the wake of the economic crisis, state subsidies and the maintenance of collections stopped, as most of the research activities were done at the very least thanks to a few intermittent external financing
