FAO REGIONAL CONFERENCE FOR ASIA AND THE PACIFIC

Thirty-fourth Session

Nadi, Fiji, 9–13 April 2018

Multi-year Programme of Work (MYPOW) 2016-2019 for the FAO Regional Conference for Asia and the Pacific

Executive Summary

The 33rd Session of the Regional Conference for Asia and the Pacific (APRC) endorsed the Multi-year Programme of Work (MYPOW) for the period 2016-2019, to frame the work of the Regional Conference. It encouraged regular and systematic review of the performance and efficiency of the Regional Conference.

This document presents again the MYPOW for 2016-2019 for APRC. A report on how FAO's regional activities have addressed regional priorities during 2016-2017, as well as priorities and recommendations of the regional technical commissions, along with the plans and priorities of partners such as the Regional Economic Organizations, civil society organizations (CSOs) and the private sector, is presented in document APRC/18/6.

Guidance sought from the Regional Conference

The MYPOW for the period 2016-2019 is presented to the Regional Conference for information.

I. Overall objectives

1. The overall objectives reflect the enhanced role of Regional Conferences in the governance process of FAO. It is recalled that the Regional Conference reviews the situation in the region regarding matters pertaining to the Organization's mandate, and provides advice and action-oriented recommendations to the FAO Conference on global policy and regulatory matters, and to the FAO Council on matters pertaining to priorities, programmes and budget of the Organization.
2. The Regional Conference provides regional perspectives on FAO's strategies and priorities and formulates concrete recommendations on regional activities, also contributing to enhanced efficiency and effectiveness. It also conducts regional-level assessments, to feed into improved sustainability of agriculture, food security and nutrition. It exercises oversight of the functions and activities of FAO in the region, in accordance with the Basic Texts of the Organization. It operates efficiently and effectively, collaborating where appropriate with relevant partner organizations.
3. The technical commissions of the region review technical aspects and issues of importance in the areas of Fisheries (APFIC), Forestry (APFC), Agricultural Statistics (APCAS), Plant Protection (APPPC) and Animal Production and Health (APHCA). Their recommendations complement and inform the discussions during APRC on the Programme of Work, its strategic focus and the Regional Initiatives.
4. Both in the preparation for the Thirty-fourth Session of APRC, and in the intersessional period, the programme of work for APRC has been actively pursued and delivered to the extent possible by the FAO Regional Office for Asia and the Pacific (RAP). This has included clear recommendations from APRC to the FAO Conference and Council, concise reporting and informal contacts between the Secretariat, Chairperson and the Regional Groups. Furthermore, the Chairperson of APRC attended the relevant Council and Conference Sessions and provided input for decisions based on APRC recommendations.
5. For ease of reference, this document provides again the 2016 approved MYPOW for 2016-2019 for APRC. It is to be noted that a separate report on how FAO's regional activities have addressed regional priorities during 2016-2017, as well as priorities and recommendations of the regional technical commissions, along with the plans and priorities of partners such as the Regional Economic Organizations, civil society organizations (CSOs) and the private sector, is presented in document APRC/18/6.
