

All GLOBEFISH publications are available here, as well as other FAO fisheries-related publications.

<https://linktr.ee/globefish>

Subscribe to the GLOBEFISH Newsletter here to stay up-to-date with all the latest news on the fisheries and aquaculture markets from GLOBEFISH.

GLOBEFISH is always open to receiving suggestions for research topics or growing its network of price correspondents to offer broader and more inclusive analysis for fisheries and aquaculture species and markets.

For any information, suggestions, or to discuss how to become a price correspondent, please contact us at globefish@fao.org

Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations

GLOBEFISH

Information and Analysis on Markets and Trade of Fisheries and Aquaculture Products

Since 1994, the FAO Fisheries and Aquaculture Division has been responsible for providing up-to-date trade and market information and analysis on fisheries and aquaculture products through the multi-donor financed project GLOBEFISH. The project also encourages and enables information sharing between the global fisheries and aquaculture sector, including the industry, governments, academic institutions, and others.

GLOBEFISH promotes information sharing on fisheries and aquaculture products, markets, and trade through its website, periodicals, one-off publications, and participation in events and trade exhibitions.

The GLOBEFISH website regularly publishes updates on new issues affecting trade and markets for fisheries and aquaculture products. Ongoing sections are dedicated to disseminating primary country fish data and price information. Additionally, GLOBEFISH publications can be downloaded for free on the website.

On the GLOBEFISH website, users can access:

The GLOBEFISH Country Profile presents a snapshot of production, trade, and other data for fisheries and aquaculture products by country or territory.

The GLOBEFISH European Price Dashboard presents the prices GLOBEFISH monitors for fisheries and aquaculture products in Europe in a user-friendly interface, with a dynamic tool for monitoring real-time data and making information accessible to end-users

The GLOBEFISH periodical publications cover a wide range of product analyses and regions, including:

GLOBEFISH Highlights

A quarterly study of the most recent data on market trends for a range of commodities of fisheries and aquaculture.

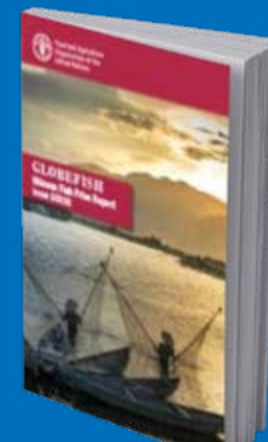

European Price Report

An overview of the major trends in the European market, with an analysis of major traded species.

Chinese Fish Price Report

One of the few international publications to offer pricing analyses of specific Chinese fisheries and aquaculture species based on data provided by the industry.

GLOBEFISH Trade Statistics

The most recent data is presented in a global matrix-style analysis of trends and trade flows of the key fisheries and aquaculture product groupings by country.

HS Codes for Fish and Fish Products

The publication presents all possible classifications for fisheries and aquaculture products by species with a complete description of each HS code to facilitate its use and classification understanding.

GLOBEFISH Insight

Occasional articles that address any angle pertinent to the fisheries and aquaculture sectors. It can offer market or trade analysis and information on market prospects or crucial national policies that could affect upcoming business.

