V. CLIMATE / CLOTHES

7. The People's Democratic Republic of Algeria, located in the North Africa on the Mediterranean coast, is bounded on the north by the Mediterranean sea, on the east by Tunisia and Libya, on the south by Niger and Mali, and on the west by Mauritania, Western Sahara and Morocco. The area of Algeria is 2,381,741 km<sup>2</sup>.

8. Algeria is the largest country in Africa, the Arab world, and the Mediterranean Basin. Its southern part includes a significant portion of the Sahara. Algeria lies mostly between latitudes 19° and 37°N and longitudes 9°W and 12°E. Most of the coastal area is hilly, sometimes even mountainous, and there are a few natural harbours. The area from the coast to the Tell Atlas is fertile. South of the Tell Atlas is a steppe landscape ending with the Saharan Atlas; farther south, there is the Sahara desert.

9. Tlemcen is a province (Wilaya) in north western Algeria, where the landscape is diverse with four separate physical units. From the north to the south you can go through, Mountains of Trara and Sebâa Chioukh just in the border of the Mediterranean Sea, then a set of agricultural plains, where the administrative center of the Wilaya is established. This set is characterized by high agricultural potential, a dense urban fabric, a good road network and a major industrial activity. Forward to the south there is Tlemcen mountains which are a part of the great chain of the Tell Atlas which crosses the eastern and western Algeria, and set themselves up as a true natural barrier between the high steppe plains and Tell. Finley in the southern area you can find the high steppe plains.

10. Average daytime maximum temperatures in Tlemcen range from 7°C to 14°C in December. The average winter temperature is above 7° C, but there can be occasional of frosts. January is the coldest month. Precipitation is most common in the winter and ranges from about 850 mm in the Tlemcen Mont to less than 300 mm in south area.

11. In December, the weather in Tlemcen is cold. Make sure you bring warm clothes and a windproof and waterproof jacket, particularly for the field day on 16 December 2015.

VI. LANGUAGE

12. The official spoken languages during the meetings are Arabic, French and English. Simultaneous interpretation will be available in plenary sessions.
