

Rural employment, decent work and migration

Course: Migration and Gender

©UN Migration Agency (IOM)

This one-lesson course considers the gender dimension of rural migration. As men and women experience migration differently, to reduce the vulnerability and empower both rural women migrants and women who stay behind, it is essential to integrate gender into policies and programmes on migration and rural development.

1 hour

Available in English

You will learn about

- Gender concepts and available data about women migrants
- The gender dimensions of migration at different phases of the migration cycle
- How vulnerability, discrimination and gender roles affect women's both as challenges and opportunities
- Key ways that policy measures should include gender – expanding gender-sensitive research on rural migration, reducing the adverse drivers of migration, fostering the potential of migration to empower women and maximizing the positive effects of migration

Who is the course for?

The target audience for this course includes:

- UN Country Teams and FAO staff
- Planners, policy formulators and advisors on migration, agriculture and rural development
- Managers and technical staff in the ministries responsible for agriculture, rural development, migration, employment and others

Key partners

FAO has coordinated the design and development of the course with the aim to increase understanding of the topic.

FAO elearning Center

This course is available through the FAO  elearning Center.

Please visit the Center and browse our extensive catalogue in multiple languages. Register once to access over 100 titles.

All courses are available as a global public good for free.

How to access the course

1. Go to the e-learning center: elearning.fao.org, and select the category "Rural employment, decent work and migration"
2. Register and log-in with your user name and password

© FAO, 2019
CA5458EN/1/07.19

 Registration is fast and easy.