

Child labour

Course: Business strategies and public-private partnerships to end child labour in agriculture

©FAO/Giamplero Diana

Child labour can be found at all stages of agricultural supply chains, affecting children, enterprise reputation, as well as rural and agricultural development. This course presents a number of business-oriented strategies to reduce child labour in agricultural supply chains, including in crops, livestock, forestry, fisheries and aquaculture. It aims to build specific skills, depending on work-related responsibilities and tasks, by providing concrete ideas and guidance that can be applied in real life situations.

1,5 hours

Available in English

You will learn about

- The economic advantages agricultural producers have in eliminating child labour
- The approaches to deal with the root causes of child labour
- Complementary strategies to eliminate child labour in agriculture, by promoting responsible investment, certifications and public-private partnerships

Who is the course for?

The course is tailored to meet the information needs of agricultural policy-makers and advisors, programme designers and implementers, agricultural researchers and statisticians working in the private or public sector.

For example within producers organizations, including cooperatives; private sector enterprises; ministries of agriculture, livestock, forestry and fisheries; or FAO.

Key partners

The Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO) has developed the contents and conducted the design and development of the course with the contribution of the International Labour Organization (ILO).

This E-learning course was produced thanks to the Kingdom of the Netherlands' contribution to FAO through the FAO Multi-Partner Programme Support Mechanism (FMM).

FAO learning Center

This course is available through the FAO  learning Center.

Please visit the Center and browse our extensive catalogue in multiple languages. Register once to access over 100 titles.

All courses are available as a global public good for free.

How to access the course

1. Go to the e-learning center: www.fao.org/elearning, and select the category "Child labour"
2. Register and log-in with your user name and password.

 Registration is fast and easy.