Programme 3.1.3: Legal Assistance to Member Nations

386.a The Programme, which is delivered by the Development Law Service of the Legal Office, provides extensive advice and support to developing countries on legislation for agriculture and rural development. Advisory assistance was provided on new issues in fisheries law arising from recent international agreements, with projects in Malaysia and Namibia, and on the complex problems of pastoralism in Mali and Burkina Faso. Assistance was also provided on forestry legislation, plant protection, water and land tenure. The legislative database continued to expand with approximately 5,000 full texts being put on line during the biennium, in addition to 6,500 abstracts.
